

Use this planner as a general guideline for your Wedding budget.

simply better at weddingstar Budget Planner

Before you start planning for your big day, you need to know exactly how much money you have to work with, and what will be allocated to each aspect of the wedding. As a general rule of thumb, about 45% the budget should be allotted to the reception. This will include location, food and beverages. Ten percent should be allotted to flowers, ten percent to photography, ten percent to wedding attire, and another ten percent to music. The final fifteen percent of your budget should be allotted for stationery, gifts, favors, and other accessorizing details.
